Mission of the College

Austin Community College is an educational institution committed to challenging the human mind to explore new ideas and seek new opportunities. The College mission is to provide a wide range of high quality educational services that meet the needs of our willing partners in learning, both those who seek our services and those whom we must seek out.

Austin Community College operates on the belief that open access to quality postsecondary educational experiences are vital in a rapidly changing democratic society. Therefore, the College exists to provide such educational opportunities to all the people of the Austin Community College service area. Hence, Austin Community College maintains an "open door" admissions policy, offers a comprehensive variety of postsecondary educational programs, and actively seeks to eliminate barriers in the educational process.

A. Types of Programs

Austin Community College offers the following types of programs, services, and instruction to fulfill its mission and to satisfy state law for public junior and community colleges:

[a] Vocational and technical programs of varying lengths leading to certificates or degrees.
[b] Freshman- and sophomore-level academic courses leading to an associate degree or serving as the base of a baccalaureate degree program at a four-year institution.
[c] Continuing adult education for academic, occupational, professional, and cultural enhancement.
[d] Special instructional programs and tutorial service to assist underprepared students and others who wish special assistance to achieve their educational goals.
[e] A continuing program of counseling and advising designed to assist students in achieving their individual educational and occupational goals.
[f] A program of technology, library, media, and testing services to support instruction.
[g] Contracted instructional programs and services for area employers that promote economic development.

B. Intended Results

[1] The basic result to be produced by the College, in conjunction with other community sectors, is that all service-area adults legally qualified for College services have the postsecondary and higher education they need and can use for productive, successful lives. How close the local community is to this goal is a central accountability indicator for the College. However, declaration of this goal is not a guarantee of particular services, program admissions, or resource allocations; these are decided through the program-review, admissions, and budget processes.
[2] Accredited preparation shall be provided for as many career areas and university-transfer options within the mission of the College as is feasible. Emphasis shall be placed on providing postsecondary education (including needed preparation) to people who are educationally disadvantaged or are not well-served by other colleges, and on preparation for family-wage careers (either directly or after further higher education).
[3] In addition to mastery of the specific subject-area knowledge and skills needed to meet their education-related goals, students completing College programs shall have the general skills needed for success in employment and higher education: these include dependability, effective communication, gathering and critically assessing information, problem-solving, teamwork, leadership, and a focus on producing results of high quality.

[4] The College shall organize its activities so as to produce as high a level of overall value for the community as possible, and shall avoid procedures that waste the money or time of students or staff.

[5] The College shall create a good place to work, to learn, and to otherwise experience the higher-education process.

The Austin Community College Board of Trustees adopted this policy on February 13, 1973, and amended it on March 4, 1974, September 2, 1975, January 18, 1982, September 24, 1984, February 3, 1997, and May 1, 2000.

Statement of Values and Ideals

Diversity: Understanding our world as one large, complex community; Fostering a genuine appreciation of a multi-cultural community; Promoting a genuine belief in the dignity, equality and value of every person

Historical Profile

Austin Community College (ACC) was established in December 1972 by voters of the Austin Independent School District. In the fall of 1973, ACC registered 2,363 students. Classes began on September 17, 1973. The AISD Board of Trustees served as ACC's Board of Trustees, and the College shared the district's boundaries.

In December 1978, ACC was accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) to award associate degrees. ACC's enrollment had increased to 13,481 students.

On March 1, 1982, the Board, following the guidelines of the Texas Education Code, established its own governing Board of Trustees, consisting of nine elected members. Accreditation was reaffirmed by SACS in 1983 and 1993.

With its purchase of the Austin Country Club in January 1983, ACC acquired its first real estate. Situated at 5712 East Riverside Drive, the property is now ACC's Riverside Campus. ACC's Board of Trustees held its first election in the spring of that year.

On November 5, 1985, 83 percent of the citizens of the Leander Independent School District voted to become part of the ACC district.

Following the passage of the 1985 General Appropriations Act, which stated that "it is the intent of the Legislature that all public junior colleges receiving state appropriations shall initiate procedures necessary to secure ad valorem revenues sufficient to supplement the funding of the district by August 31, 1987," ACC held a successful tax base election. The measure approved a maximum of 5 cents per $100 assessed property valuation.

On November 3, 1998, 70 percent of Manor Independent School District citizens voted to join the ACC district.

The College maintains six campuses in addition to the Highland Business Center, which houses the administrative offices and a business training center. The campuses are Rio Grande (1975), Riverside (1984), Northridge (1989), Pinnacle (1990), Cypress Creek (1991), and Eastview (1999). The newest addition is the Downtown Center which opened April 2000.

Review of Austin Community College Revenue and Expenditures

Austin Community College receives its funds from three primary sources of revenue: state funding, property taxes, and student tuition and fees. Federal grants account for a small percentage of revenue, and those funds can only be used for specific purposes as defined in the grant guidelines.

Tuition and fees are set by the Board of Trustees. Unlike state reimbursement, tuition and fee income may be spent for any College purpose, including retirement of revenue bonds, which could be used for limited construction purposes.

The College budgets according to these categories:

- General Administration and Student Services - government of the institution; executive direction and control; business and fiscal management; admissions and registration; other student services, including counseling, placement services, and student financial aid.

- General Institutional Expense - expenses of a general nature that benefit the entire institution and are not related solely to any specific program or division (cost of catalogs, bulletins, convocations, lectures, etc.).

- Staff Benefits - costs toward benefit programs for employees such as insurance programs, workers compensation, and unemployment compensation.

- Resident Instruction - there are two classifications: General Academic Courses and Vocational-Technical Courses. Costs include departmental operating expenses, instructional administration, salaries, wages, supplies, travel, equipment, and operating expenses.

- Learning Resource Services - costs for salaries, wages, other operating costs, books, periodicals, binding costs and equipment of separately organized libraries.

- Extension and Public Service - all costs of activities designed to serve the general public to include community service programs, instructional salaries and wages, supplies, equipment and departmental operating expenses.

- Physical Plant Maintenance and Operations - includes salaries and wages, custodial and maintenance personnel, cost of utilities, cost of supplies and equipment for custodial and maintenance personnel, minor repairs and renovations, parking areas and security, and the cost of operating expenses to carry out the duties of physical plant administration. Planning and general services must be funded from local funds.

- Special Items - cost of items not included in any other elements such as reserve accounts, contact hour adjustments, tuition shortfall, reserve for contingency, and retirement of Bond Debt.

- Major Repairs and Rehabilitation of Buildings - includes expenses to provide major repairs, rehabilitation, and renovations of existing buildings and facilities, salaries, wages, and the cost of materials for such items.

Adult Education

Austin Community College has served as the prime sponsor of the Adult Education Program of Travis County Co-op since September 1973. The program is funded annually and evaluated by the Texas Education Agency (TEA). The federal portion of the funding is provided by the U.S. Department of Education through TEA. The state portion of the funding is provided by the State of Texas. Local funding is also provided by Austin Community College. A coordinating committee, comprised of public school superintendents and their representatives, human services agency representatives, members of the business community, and student representatives, serves as an advisory committee in accordance with TEA guidelines.

Programs

The Adult Education Program includes the following components.

1. Adult Basic Education (ABE) programs are for adults whose reading, writing, and arithmetic skills are below the ninth-grade level. These classes, which consist of both self-paced and group instruction, are also part of the entry component of adult secondary or GED preparation.

2. General Education Development (GED) classes are for adults whose high school education was interrupted. These classes cover five areas: writing, social studies, science, reading, and math. GED classes are designed to assist students to prepare for the GED Test and offer life and job readiness skills.

3. English-as-a-Second Language (ESL) classes are for adults whose native language is not English.

The following programs are specially funded through adult education and are designed for special populations.

1. The Adult Education for Correctional Institutions program provides adult basic education and GED preparation classes for inmates of city and county correctional facilities.

2. The Adult Education Even Start Family Literacy program provides the nation's low income families with a unified family literacy program that integrates early childhood education, adult literacy or basic education, and parenting education.

Note to the Fact Book

Reports in this Fact Book are based upon the best data available at the time the report was produced.

During academic year 1999, ACC converted the student data system to a new software system. Therefore, valid comparisons of data prior to academic year 1999 to current data cannot be made due to incompatibilities between the old and new student databases and changes in ACC's academic organization.
